AND RELATION TO ARMY EFFICIENCYService in the army presents a rare opportunity for the young men of the country to acquire knowledge, experience, character and good health.
Many of the young recruits who enter our service are found lacking in the moral, mental and physical qualities so essential to the useful citizen and valuable soldier. The basis of a healthy body is clean living, which is likewise a passport to mental and physical development. No one can grow in mental strength and manly vigor who violates the laws of morality and health.The qualified soldier must possess an alert and active mind in order to acquire the technical knowledge of his profession and handle the intricate machinery used in modern warfare.
He must have a clear eye and steady hand to become a skilled marksman and a rugged constitution to undergo the weary miles of forced marches and inclemency of the weather. Besides these he must possess moral strength of character to resist evil temptations which destroy health, and withstand the nervous strain of battle and the vigils of night duty on the outpost in time of war. To acquire and possess these most valuable qualities, every soldier, enlisted or commissioned, must learn to control his vicious appetites and hold himself well in hand on all occasions. He must avoid alcohol, immoral women and venereal diseases, the unholy trinity, which is responsible for a large portion of the ill health, broken-down constitutions and mental and physical wrecks found in the world.The recent studies on alcohol have shown it to be the most destructive agent of health known to the living world. Not only does it produce serious functional and organic diseases, but lessens memory, judgment and intelligence. Even the moderate drinker deteriorates mentally and physically, and frequently finds himself at 50 years broken down in health and mind and no longer able to earn a living.
One of the most valuable assets in the service for the up-building of character and health is the Young Men's Christian Association, which carries with it the very influences and training that enable our soldiers to establish a good moral and physical basis.
Clean sport and manly recreative games, backed up by scientific health talks, have created manly ideals and physical fitness, which have been of untold value in increasing the health and efficiency of the men. It is said that in the year just closed nearly 47,000 men have availed themselves of association gymnastic training, which has made them better men.The soldier finds in the association the proper stimuli for the development of the best moral and physical qualities. Where formerly his leisure hours on pass were spent in saloons and brothels, thousands are now availing themselves of association educational work, which is fitting them for the great responsibilities of life as citizens when they leave the service.
Mental training creates mental alertness, and the Christian fellowship of the leisure hours spent with the association secretaries brings happiness and contentment. From my experience I have found that the association has stood as a bulwark between the crowding temptations of the men in garrison and maneuver camps and especially in the Philippines and on the Mexican border; through its influences, helpfulness and brotherly love hundreds of the men have been saved from the temptation of desertion.It is my opinion that the work as army secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association offers a great field for young men of the highest ability, for men who have had the advantages of birth, university and technical education, young men ambitious to do something material for the higher standards and the world's uplift. There is no greater opportunity for the public-spirited men and women of the country to show their patriotism and love of humanity than by contributing to this splendid cause.
The men of every post in the army are improved in every respect through the influences of the Young Men's Christian Association and there should be such a building with a live secretary in every army garrison.

FLOAT PLANNED
FOR BIG ISLEA "Madame Pele" float will probably be the entry which Hilo will make in the Floral Parade of the Mid-Pacific Carnival next month. This is the proposition brought forward by the Hilo Board of Trade in a letter received this morning by W. H. C. Campbell, local representative of the Volcano Stables, who has been placed in charge of the entry. Mr. Campbell, who has just returned to Honolulu from the Crescent City, had an interesting interview with G. H. Vicars, secretary of the Hilo board, the gist of which was to the effect that the island of Hawaii is making other plans for representation in the parade and carnival.Mr. Campbell said this morning that the idea of a Madame Pele float has not been definitely adopted as far as his advice goes, but that he expects to go ahead with the preparation of an automobile."It may seem that a representation of the volcano is hard to produce," he said, "but we did it once in a parade in Hilo with much success and I think we can get up a good 'Madame Pele' entry this time."Hilo and the island of Hawaii is taking a much larger interest in the carnival events this year than ever before. The Big Island will have a baseball team in the inter-island series and the Hilo band is expecting to come here. There will be many Hawaii excursionists, including a party of school teachers in the board from the Big Island during carnival week. Mr.
Vicars' letter to Mr. Campbell also tells of the Hilo Board of Trade's plans for a princess entry and asks that Mrs. Campbell assist in the preparation thereof. Miss Wilhelmina Weight will again represent Hawaii in the Floral Parade.TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR-STOPPS FALLINGGirls! Try this! Makes hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful—No more itching scalp.Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and sraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.
Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or tollet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—

'ORDINARY CITIZEN'A country correspondent of Williamson & Buttolph expresses concern over prohibition rumors in this wise:"Many thanks for useful information. Am interested in things pertaining to our brewery, so are the folks I've been instrumental in interesting.""Possibly I have less fear of prohibition than most folks. I reason thus:
"I am an ordinary citizen, you are an ordinary citizen, Congress consists of ordinary citizens.""Suppose a crazy man happens along and suggests we ordinary citizens pass a two-meal-a-day ordinance, an anti-ice cream law, or total prohibition, over the heads of the people most interested. What should we do?"WALLACE IRWIN TOLD TRUTH DECIDES TOURIST AFTER HONOLULU VISITA tourist, learned in the "Letters of a Japanese School Boy," as written by Wallace Irwin, and struck by the polite way in which the school boy referred to "the honorable drug store" and the "honorable butcher shop," was surprised on entering Honolulu. The other day to see what he believed to be the faithful carrying out of the Japanese school boy's conception of the polite and proper way of addressing persons, places and things. Seeing a Japanese chauffeur driving a taxi, he was startled by the sign on the back of the vehicle, which read:
"Hon. Taxi."The tourist gasped: "Well, I'll be —Honorable Taxi! And I always thought those letters of Irwin's were overdone!"What can't be cured must be endured, but there is no use of enduring the torture of headaches. Stearns' Headache Cure gives relief in a very few minutes. Persons who suffer in this way should always have a box of it at hand. Insist on "Stearns'"—advertisement.Percy Pettigrew—"My cousin is a wonderful microscopic writer. He engraved the entire poem of 'Mary's Little Lamb' on a pinhead." Truly Pettigrew—"And did he take that tiny thing?"
